Get the Boys Ready for School

THIS week the annual "getting ready" event of Paducah's "Young America" will occasion the purchase of a multitude of needful articles. The new school outfit bought at Wallerstein's means substantial economy to parents and absolute satisfaction to the boy. School opens Monday, Sept. 10, and parents are advised to put in this week selecting the school outfits for their youths, boys and children. We, as usual, are ready with the largest display of good clothes in Paducah, and our prices are, of course, the lowest. Our special lines

Mrs. Jane Hopkins, Cherry Diamond, Rough and Tough will be found in all the new shades and styles—sailor suits, Eton-Norfolk suits, boys' double-breasted suit with belt and bloomer trousers, and the staple double-breasted suit with plain trousers, cut to the latest models.

"The American Boy" Free

WITH each purchase of $5.00 or more in our Children's Department we give a card entitling the holder to six consecutive numbers of THE AMERICAN BOY, "the best boys' paper in the world." The September number is especially handsome. It is adorned by a striking foot ball design in colors. The text and illustrations of this number are most interesting. The continued stories by Tomlinson, Stratemeyer and Alger are the chief features around which the boys' interest will center. Other headlines are "The Runaway Pap," an animal story; "The Undertow," the story of a boy's daring; "The Captain's Grit," a baseball story; "A Boy Hero and His Medal," a war story; "Our Pursuit of Old Golden," a hunting story; "The Two Admirals," a story of the ambition of two boys; "The Chase of the Rambler," a sea story; "Mike's Lucky Season," a story of the hunt. Other interesting titles are: "The Boy Aeronaut," "Boys as Poets," "My Young Sportsman," "The Shack in the Woods," "Hunting His First Job," "New Football Rules," "How to Make a Wooden Necklace," "Catching a Crocodile," and many other items too numerous to mention. The various regular departments of the paper are full of good things: "The Boy Mechanic and Electrician," "The Boy Photographer," "The Amateur Journalist" and "Tangles."

POLICEMAN

WAS T. J. SHERRELL MANY YEARS AGO IN PADUCAH.

Pioneer Citizen Passes Away of Infirmities Incident to Old Age.

T. J. Sherrell 87 years old, one of Paducah's first policemen, died this morning at 2:10 o'clock, of complications incident to old age at the residence of his son, J. W. Sherrell, 921 Clay street. He had been in failing health all summer, and for several days his life has been despaired of. He was a native of Green county, Ky., but was raised in Hopkinsville. In 1844 he married Miss Elizabeth Sanders, of Pembroke, Ky., and moved to Paducah in 1850 and engaged in the blacksmith business with the late Joe Dicke, where Tully's livery stable is now. Later he went into the grocery business with the late J. P. Winchester, on the present site of Lang's drug store. Mr. Sherrell was one of Paducah's first policeman and a popular man. He retired from business 10 years ago. He is survived by two children, J. W. Sherrell and Mrs. Mary Edwards both of Paducah. Two of his sisters survive him, Mrs. Lottie Leech, of Glasgow, Ky., and Mrs. Amanda Ballowe, of Paducah. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the residence. The burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

Mr. Sherrell was policeman for three years commencing in 1852. At that time a man named Patterson was marshal and there were only two policemen. They wore no uniforms and worked from the old log jail that stood near the court house, then located across from the market house site in the middle of Kentucky avenue, or Court street. There are few who can remember the primitive organization that guarded the property and lives of the citizens of the early day.

The pallbearers at Mr. Sherrell's funeral will be: John Theobald, Captain Kraus, Mark Bryant, Randall Ballowe, Pat Grogan and James Long.

BULL DOG

BIT LITTLE CHILD THROUGH HIS LEFT HAND.

Children Have Been Teasing Animal Until It Is Cross—Wound Is Cauterized.

Phillip Oppenhausser, Jr., the 8-year-old son of Mr. Phillip Oppenhausser, of West Tennessee street, was bitten in the hand by a bull dog yesterday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock on West Kentucky avenue, and seriously injured, the dog's teeth going through the palm of his left hand.

The little fellow was trudging along on the pavement in front of Mr. Ed Smith's residence between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, on Kentucky avenue. Mr. Smith owns a bull dog and school children have been teasing the canine until he is vicious. The yard is protected by a wire netting and the dog jumped against it, grabbed the boy's hand and bit through it before the little fellow realized what had happened. Special Policeman Dick Tolbert, of the Illinois Central shops, took the little fellow to the Illinois Central hospital, where the wound was cauterized.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION is worth a pound of cure. There are many poor sufferers, consumptives who are hopeless of getting well—why, if they had taken care of themselves, would now be well. A cough is the foundation of Consumption. Ballard's Horehound Syrup will cure that cough. Mrs. S., Great Falls, Mont., writes: "I have used Ballard's Horehound Syrup in my family for years—my children never suffer with coughs." Sold by all druggists.

Mudd Deputy Warden. Edward Mudd, of Hardin county, was appointed yesterday by the state prison commission to be assistant deputy warden of the state penitentiary.

Theatrical Notes

Long-Lived Play.

When Kate Claxton first presented "The Two Orphans" over 20 years ago, she had no idea the play would outlive her career. Indeed plays are few that live more than a few seasons. "The Two Orphans" which comes to the Kentucky tomorrow matinee and night, seems popular this season. In order to command public patronage a good play is essential, the company may be ever so notable, without a vehicle they are helpless. This is the secret of the long life of "The Orphans."

Thomas E. Shea has added to his already popular repertoire Robert Mantell's greatest success, "The Corsican Brothers," and Robert Downing's famous play, "The Gladiator." Both of which will be seen during his forthcoming engagement in this city.

INSPECTOR MARRIES.

Failed to Tell His Friends in Paducah His Plans.

Raleigh M. C. Hosford, the popular postoffice inspector, who was in Paducah Tuesday on official business, returned to Evansville that night and the next evening was united in marriage to Mrs. Anna Rayburn, of Sturgis, Ky. The ceremony took place in the Jefferson avenue Cumberland Presbyterian church. They will make their home at Danville, Ill.

Sam McElroy Dead.

Sam G. McElroy, a well-known citizen of Marion county, was found dead at his home near Lebanon, his death being due to a gunshot wound.

STUDIED SOMNOLENCE.

Little Willie: "Wake up, pal. Here comes the collection man." Pa: "Shut up, you little fool! That's why I'm asleep!"

HE GOT THE PLACE.

"I just put that sign up, young man. Why did you take it down?" "Cause I'm the answer."
